

To Carry out the New Development Concept is the Only Way for Our Country to Grow and Expand in the New Era

Wang,Zhi

School of Marxism, Xinjiang Normal University, Urumqi, Xinjiang, 830017, China

Abstract: The new era gives rise to fresh ideas and these ideas lead to new practices. The emerging stage demands innovative concepts, which in turn establish novel patterns. Embracing the new development concept is imperative for China's growth in this era, as it elucidates the direction and approach for achieving high-quality development and profound changes in overall development. By introducing the fundamental essence and theoretical characteristics of the new development concept, it is demonstrated that it transcends the traditional Western notion of strength, holding significant theoretical and practical implications. It represents an innovative adaptation of Marxism within China's context and contemporary circumstances, bearing distinct Chinese characteristics and style. This concept not only provides a roadmap for realizing the great rejuvenation of the Chinese nation through modernization with Chinese characteristics but also offers valuable insights for other countries' development worldwide.

Keywords: New development concept; Chinese-style modernization; The only way

DOI: 10.62639/sspjss03.20240103

1. Introduction

Faced with the difficult problems that need to be solved urgently for social development, new development concepts should be born at the right time. In the new era and new journey, we fully implement the new development concept, in the new historical context, bring forth the old and bring forth the new, take root in the practice of social reform, overcome risks and challenges, eliminate dangerous hidden dangers, overcome development obstacles, win the prevention and resolution of major risks, precision poverty alleviation, pollution prevention and control of the three major battles, and promote social development and progress.

2. Presentation of Problem

As a new topic emerging in recent years, the academic circle generally believes that the new development concept is the inheritance and innovation of the Marxist development concept. The first is to define the profound connotation of the new development concept, to sort out the historical origin of the new development concept, mainly from the evolution of development concept and other aspects; Jian Xinhua believes that since the reform and opening up, China's understanding of development has been deepening, and analyzes the inheritance and innovative development of the scientific outlook on development and the new development concept, which reflects the new theoretical leap that the Party leads the people across

---

(Manuscript NO.: JISS-24-3-80004)

About the Author

Wang,Zhi (1998 -), male, master of Marxism College of Xinjiang Normal University, research on Marxism in China.

Funding

This paper is a phased research result of Xinjiang Normal University graduate Research Innovation Fund project "Research on the scientific connotation and practical approach to the Construction of Chinese Modern Civilization in the New Era" (project number :XSY202301041).

the country to achieve on the new journey. It has laid a solid theoretical guarantee for sustained and healthy economic development.<sup>[1]</sup>

The second is to analyze the unique charm of the new development concept, starting from the internal logic of the new development concept, such as generative logic, theoretical logic, value logic and practical logic. Du Shuguang believes that the five development concepts respond to the realistic logic of building a new development pattern from different perspectives, and introduce from five aspects that the construction of a new development pattern must take innovation as the main driving force, share as the fundamental purpose, coordinate the industrial structure layout, adhere to green development, continue to promote a higher level of opening up, deepen the contact with the world, and realize mutual cooperation between countries. It is of great theoretical and practical significance to achieve mutual benefit and win-win results, to benefit all the people more widely and to ensure a better life for the people as the value orientation.<sup>[2]</sup>

The third is the formation process of the five development elements and their internal connections, which explains the great significance of the new development concept to further promote the Chinese-style modernization; For example, Huang Yingxi believes that theoretical characteristics breed theories, and what theoretical characteristics will create what kind of theoretical system.<sup>[3]</sup> The new development concept contains five theoretical characteristics: dialectical, systematic, practical, developmental and people's nature, which are rich in connotation, rigorous in logic and profound in thought. Has a strong charisma and clear action orientation. The new development concept comes from practice, and better guides practice to serve the society.

The fourth is to focus on the new development concept of The Times value implication and practice path and other aspects of in-depth research. Gu Hailiang believes that the new development concept is a profound distillation and theoretical crystallization of China's remarkable achievements and development experience in the new era, and it is also a theoretical exploration and positive response to major issues of The Times.<sup>[4]</sup> Therefore, it is necessary to fully grasp the internal mechanism of the new development concept and grasp the spiritual core of the new development concept, and strive to crack the deep-seated obstacles to development and improve the efficiency of national governance. Wang Binglin believes that the five development concepts have provided a strong driving force and scientific guidance for Chinese-style modernization.<sup>[5]</sup>

To sum up, the scholars mainly carried out in-depth research on the internal logic, realistic value and historical evolution of the new development concept, and made a detailed discussion on the relationship between the five aspects of the new development concept, pointing out that the new development concept contains strong vitality and vitality in guiding China's socialist construction cause.

3. The Reality of the New Development Concept

(1) The basic connotation of the new development concept

The new development concept advocates innovation, emphasizes science and technology as the primary productive force, attaches importance to scientific and technological innovation, aims to solve the problem of development impetus, and deeply reveals the driving force and new mechanism of the development of productive forces in contemporary society. Advocating green, creating a livable ecology, focusing on solving the problem of harmonious coexistence between man and nature, elevating the concept of sustainable development to a new height, so that the ecological concept of green water and green mountains is gold and silver mountains is deeply rooted in people's hearts. It provides an important guarantee for maintaining a stable domestic and international environment for economic development in the new era, and provides broad opportunities for enterprises to go out and introduce; Promoting sharing to solve the problems of social equity and justice ensures that all people share the fruits of reform, and vividly illustrates the fundamental concept of putting the people first. The five development concepts are strategic and forward-looking, a solution to the root causes of various complex contradictions accumulated over a long period of time in China, an effective focus on achieving high-quality economic development, a strong support point for creating an ecological livable environment, and an important measure for building a new development pattern.

(2) The theoretical characteristics of the new development concept

1) The new development concept contains the basic principles of materialist dialectics

Green as an important condition, clarifies that the development of the new stage is to completely abandon the previous high energy consumption, high pollution of the rough development, but to turn to scientific and technological innovation, ecological protection as the concept of high-quality development model, is a natural extension of innovative development. Opening up, as the direction of development, highlights China's development concept of win-win cooperation, can effectively promote the domestic and international double cycle, and create a good business environment. Sharing, as the purpose of development, is the fundamental starting point and goal of other elements. China adheres to the principle that development is for the people, development depends on the people, and development results are shared by the people. So the four ideas come down to protecting the fundamental interests of the people. At the same time, the new development concept contains a systematic view and contains the characteristics of integrity, and the five elements complement each other to jointly promote the construction of socialism with Chinese characteristics. The new development concept embodies the law of the unity of opposites in materialist dialectics. There are contradictions in everything, and the society realizes progress and innovation in the process of constantly discovering and solving contradictions. The new development concept is designed to solve various complex contradictions and risks accumulated over a long period of time, solve development problems, and build a new development pattern.

2) The new development concept adheres to the people-centered value orientation

The new development concept fully embodies the value pursuit of putting the people first. The trust of the people is the greatest source of confidence for the Party to govern and rejuvenate the country. One heart for the public, governing for the people, always put the people in the heart, the word people is more important than Mount Tai, the heart of the country, show broad mind. The new development concept aims to build a fair, just, harmonious, stable and upward social pattern, and its fundamental value is to benefit all people more broadly and fairly from the fruits of development. A more stable and harmonious society and a higher quality of economic development are in line with the fundamental interests of all the people, creating a higher level of survival and development environment for the people, effectively safeguarding social fairness and justice, and effectively enhancing the people's sense of happiness and gain.

3) The new development concept highlights a clear problem-oriented approach

Without a solid material foundation, all social undertakings cannot be smoothly promoted. Since the reform and opening up, China's economy has experienced rapid growth, leading to an overall strengthening of national strength. However, with this rapid economic growth comes various difficulties in social governance. Additionally, China's scientific and technological innovation capabilities still need improvement; there are evident shortcomings in high-end technology industries such as semiconductors, chip core technology is facing bottlenecks, science and technology transformation link is weak, and there remains a gap between patent applications compared to developed countries. Economic structural upgrading also faces pressure. It was against this backdrop that the new development concept emerged. Problems serve as the starting point of practice and innovation while also being the source and driving force of development. The change in principal contradiction is related to both developmental concept reform and adjustment of strategy.

4) The new development concept demonstrates a broad and profound vision of the world

Our country constantly accelerated the pace of going out, optimized the opening pattern, and created a good external development environment for enterprises. It has also contributed an important force to world economic growth. The new development concept is committed to taking the road of opening up, adhering to a high level of opening up, and accelerating the construction of a new development pattern with the domestic cycle as the main body and the domestic and international cycles mutually reinforcing. China implements a more proactive strategy of opening up, speeds up the construction of the Asian Investment Bank, builds a free trade area, shares development dividends, and promotes the common development of countries along the belt and road. It has provided broad prospects and opportunities for world economic growth. The new development concept conforms to the tide of globalization and shows the broad feelings of sharing the beauty and the world. It not only provides a new direction and a new path for the great rejuvenation of the Chinese nation, but also provides a useful reference for other developing countries in the world to realize their own modernization.

4. The Contemporary Value Implication of the New Development Concept

(1) The new development concept is an innovative achievement of our Party's governance

The new development concept takes sharing as its connotation, and reveals the essential requirements of socialism with Chinese characteristics that the Party leads China's development. Sharing is to enable all members of society to enjoy the fruits of national development and social progress. It is a major issue concerning social equity and justice, and common prosperity for all people is an essential part of the issue. New circumstances call for new strategies. The world today is becoming more complex. On the one hand, globalization continues to deepen and countries are increasingly interconnected. In the face of profound changes unseen in a century, as a century-old party, the Communist Party of China has always kept a clear head, always adhered to the pragmatic attitude of seeking truth from facts and advancing with The Times, constantly summarized experience and sublimated theory in revolutionary practice and social construction, and is committed to exploring a Chinese path that is different from the Western development model and in line with China's actual conditions. It has emerged in the new era, providing new driving forces for social development and economic development, steering the direction for the realization of the second Centenary Goal, and safeguarding the great rejuvenation of the Chinese nation.

(2) The new development concept is a guide to action for promoting high-quality economic development

At present, China is facing a complex situation of three periods of superposition, all kinds of risks and challenges and complex contradictions interwoven, at the same time, China's development is unbalanced, inadequate problems are still prominent, and there are many bottlenecks in promoting high-quality development in various industries and fields. Advanced science and technology will inevitably promote the development of social productive forces, fully stimulate the potential of scientific and technological innovation, foster personnel in scientific and technological innovation, develop advanced science and technology, enable science and technology to empower the economy, make our country's social productive forces step up a higher level, and more importantly, adhere to the road of high-quality development, accurately use new development concepts to solve development problems, and fully tap the economic potential, science and technology potential. We will continue to cultivate new advantages in development, continuously make up for shortcomings in development, promote stable and healthy economic operation, achieve sustained and healthy development of China's economy and a virtuous cycle of ecology, and strive to complete historical tasks and fully realize the goal of socialist modernization.

(3) A new vision for development is an inevitable requirement for building a new development pattern

The new development concept is put forward based on the new stage situation of our country, which has great practical significance and practical direction. At present, China's economy has made remarkable achievements, but with the rapid development of the socialist market economy, the blindness and spontaneity of the market economy itself have gradually emerged, and the economic system still needs to be improved. If we speed up the construction of a new development pattern and accelerate the realization of scientific and technological self-reliance, we will be able to continuously improve the competitiveness and sustainability of our development, seize the initiative in the increasingly fierce international competition and win the future. The new concept of development is a profound change affecting the overall development of China. The new concept of development is a whole, and the requirements it puts forward are all-dimensional and multifaceted. It is not only economic indicators, but also includes education, health care, housing, ecology and other aspects. The new development concept aims to achieve the rapid development of the Chinese nation at the national, national and social levels, lay a solid material and theoretical foundation for the realization of the "Chinese Dream", and build a new development pattern.

(4) The new development concept is a strategic choice made to adhere to the Chinese-style path of modernization

In the face of a huge population and significant advantages in the demographic dividend period, we should adhere to the unification of innovation and huge population. In the face of the principal contradiction of unbalanced and inadequate development, we should unify the concept of coordination with the coordinated development of material and spiritual civilization. In the face of the actual situation of economic development and environmental pollution, adhere to the unity of green development and harmonious coexistence of man and nature; In the face of the complex situation in which the accelerating tide of globalization runs counter to the United States and other Western countries, we should adhere to the unity of openness and peaceful development. In the face of the serious situation of remarkable achievements in economic development and the widening gap between the rich and the poor, we should adhere to the principle of sharing and common prosperity for all people. Therefore, the implementation of the new development concept has become the proper meaning of the topic of Chinese modernization, and the in-depth promotion of Chinese modernization cannot be separated from the scientific guidance of the new development concept.

(5) The new concept of development is the theoretical precursor for building a great modern socialist country

The new development concept is the valuable experience formed by the Party after summing up its century-old exploration experience and basing itself on China's reality. It is put forward on the basis of an in-depth analysis of the development trend at home and abroad, and conforms to the law and prospect of China's development. Promoting China's economic and social development in accordance with the new concepts of development is the general requirement and general trend of China's development in the new era. The new development concept provides guidance for comprehensively building a modern socialist country and comprehensively promoting the great rejuvenation of the Chinese nation. The new development concept not only marks the deepening of China's understanding of the law of social development, but also a high degree of confidence in the socialist path and theoretical system with Chinese characteristics. The new development concept will surely become the baton of China's development direction for a period and even longer in the future. Under the leadership of the Party, the Chinese people will unite as one to solve development problems together, provide a strong impetus for the great rejuvenation of the Chinese nation, and inspire the vast majority of the people to join the wave of building socialism with Chinese characteristics.

5. Peroration

The new stage is an important period of development opportunities for China. Accurately grasping the trend of progress of The Times and catching up with the dividend of development of The Times are relevant to the overall situation of national rejuvenation. Our country will certainly fully implement the new concept of development, constantly adapt to, grasp and lead the new normal of economic development, based on the historical bearing of our country, with innovation as the fundamental driving force, coordination as the inherent requirement, green as the necessary condition, openness as the development direction, and sharing as the fundamental purpose to develop the economy, ensure people's livelihood, protect ecology. We will promote the overall improvement of the ecological environment, so that the fruits of development will benefit all people in a more equitable manner, inject strong impetus into China's social development, and provide Chinese wisdom to the development of other countries in the world.

References

- [1] Jian Xinhua. Evolution of Development View and new development concept [J]. Contemporary Economic Research, 2017(9): 22-31.
- [2] Fan Lili, Du Shuguang. Research on the realistic logic of the new development concept leading the new development pattern [J]. Journal of Party School of the CPC Taiyuan Municipal Committee, 2022(02): 54-57.
- [3] Huang Yingxi. Five Theoretical Characteristics of the New Development Concept [J]. Journal of the Party School of Nanchang Municipal Committee of the CPC, 2021(4): 32-35.
- [4] Gu Hailiang. The theoretical power and ideological wisdom of the "Five Necessary Roads" [J]. Social Sciences in Chinese Universities, 2022(6): 4-12.
- [5] Wang Binglin. New Development Concept and Chinese Modernization [J]. Teaching and Research, 2022(10): 10-14.